Palmerston's Joke

The desire of the inhabitants of Sing Sing to change the name of the town recalls a somewhat similar desire on the part of the inhabitants of the town of Rugeley, England, to a correspondent of the New York Times. A man named Palmer had made Rugeley notorious by an atrocious murder, and a deputation of the inhabitants waited on the home secretary with a petition for leave to change the name. The minister hesitated, and asked what name they proposed to substitute. They replied that they had not decided. "What do you say," said he, "to taking my name?" They expressed their unqualified delight, and obtained the home secretary's consent to this method of obliterating the memory of the obnoxious Palmer. The home secretary in question was Lord Palmerston. The town is still known as Rugeley.

Used to Chasing Pigs

A funny story comes from Dublin about the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. It seems when they were out driving the other day a somewhat corpulent pig jobber ran alongside the royal carriage for some time. The Duchess finally stopped the carriage and asked the man what he wanted. He explained that it was the wish of his life to obtain a good look at her and the Duke. Somewhat flattered by this explanation, the Duchess remarked:

"It must have tired you dreadfully to run beside the carriage in that manner?"

"Oh, no," replied the Irishman, gallantly. "Sure, haven't I been chasin' pigs all me life!"

A Big Gun.

Queen Victoria's new-year's honor list includes the name of Hiram S. Maxim, who was born in Maine and who is the inventor of the automatic system of fire-arms. He is knighted.
